

LEADERSHIP IN CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT

ENROLL TODAY!

Call: 011 21 21 44

Email:

info.aupp@aupp.edu.kh

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

This two-day seminar participants will identify key leadership concepts, explore the difference between leadership and management, examine an effective model for conflict resolution, and develop strategies for dealing with members of a project construction team. Success in the competitive construction industry depends on effective teams of diverse individuals working toward common goals. Leadership is the key to motivating project teams and to achieve excellence for the project, company, and client.

OBJECTIVES

- Develop interpersonal leadership skills.
- Create a strong understanding of leadership that influences the behavior of others.
- Gain skills that effective construction managers use to create a culture of support.
- Gain skills in developing high performance construction projects.
- Effective strategies for leading projects, people and teams.

TRAINING METHODOLOGY

- Instruction by an expert facilitator
- Practical illustrations

- Interactive classes
- Group discussions
- Workshops
- Simulations Case studies

COURSE MODULES

- Identify key leadership concepts unique to the construction profession.
- Explore the difference between management and leadership on your work-site.
- Analyze factors that motivate and inspire others.
- Develop conflict resolution strategies.

THE CLPD EXPERIENCE

- State of the art training facilities with modern lecture halls and equipment
- Expert Western instructors with decades of experience in senior positions. 100% of them hold a post-graduate degree.
- International quality standards at every step, from the curriculum creation to the delivery and follow-up

Upon successful completion all participants will receive a certificate recognized by the American University of Phnom Penh

